You can easily customize the order of the images on each page by dragging and dropping them into the proper place. FIGURE 7-13: You can easily customize the order of the files in a Photoshop document by dragging and dropping them into the proper place. For example, you may want to import a group of images all in a single document, or import a group of images on a separate page from the rest of the image files. You may also want to import one or more photos on one page while leaving the other pages as blank canvas. The Import window is designed to work for all types of files, including bitmap files, JPEG files, TIFF images, and much more. Figure 7-14 shows how to import a file or multiple files to a single page. FIGURE 7-14: Drag a group of files into the Import window. At the bottom

Tuesday, September 28, 2006 "Believers in the Son are believed in the spirit" -1 John 4:1
"Behold, how great a love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the Sons of God..." -1 John 3:1 The 1 John 4:1 passage concerns the "Son of God" and it is important to note it as so often we would miss reading it unless we are keeping close watch on these passages of Scripture. In my blog regarding "The Liberated Believer" I had a question, "If God really did determine for us our time of salvation, as He spoke of to Abraham, does that mean that any believer who was "faithful unto death" was that "determined"?" A disciple of The Lord Jesus Christ and a "Brethren of the Cross" (a Christian name) emailed in to correct the obvious: "This would imply that if you were in the place of Abraham, that He would have been in your time, and therefore not within the category of the millions and millions of men and women who for various reasons have had their 'time of salvation determined for them' by the Father to happen and be born from that moment in time." "My dear Brethren of the Cross, thank you for your words. I cannot imagine the Father choosing anyone to accept a gift from Him, which is why I did not want to suggest such a thing. The answer to your question is yes, the Lord has determined the time for all Christians, but that time would be prior to birth, you are right." Thank you to my Brethren and my dear brother. The above words are not fluff, but stand for something very real. When it is written that "The Father has determined the time for all believers", there are a number of things that need to be considered: 1. It certainly implies that He had a purpose in His plan or "time-frame" in which to bring us into the plan of salvation. A "time frame" is obviously an agreement from the "Father" that it will take place at a certain time of day, at a certain time of year, at a certain time of week, at a certain time of year, 05a79cecff

Retroperitoneal lymphangioliomyomatosis: a case report of a rare disease. Lymphangioliomyomatosis is a rare neoplastic disease of the lymphatic system that primarily affects women. The disease involves the lungs and the lymph nodes but may also involve the chest, the peritoneal cavity and the retroperitoneum, usually in the lower retroperitoneal space. A 39-year-old woman presented with abdominal pain and ascites. Ultrasonography, computed tomography, and lymphography demonstrated numerous large retroperitoneal cysts. An exploratory laparotomy revealed a large retroperitoneal cystic mass with multiple small cysts of various sizes and numerous smooth muscle tumors. The characteristic morphologic features of the smooth muscle tumors were seen in the histologic sections. The patient was then treated with leuprolide acetate. In conclusion, retroperitoneal lymphangioliomyomatosis should be considered in a patient with a large retroperitoneal cystic mass, especially when the abdominal and lower pelvic retroperitoneal spaces are involved. In the wake of the shooting at his church, the murder trial of the man accused of bringing a large-caliber handgun to a Charleston church, with which he fired eight shots into the church's back door, is entering its final days. First-degree murder, possession of a firearm in the commission of a violent crime, and armed violence against two or more victims are among the charges the 35-year-old Deedra D. Brown faces. Each charge carries a maximum prison sentence of life in prison if convicted. On Thursday, the 22-year-old former Briarfield School student is expected to take the stand as the state's first witness to testify, though portions of Brown's account to police are expected to be corroborated later in the state's case. On Dec. 9, police were dispatched to the Family Life Worship Center on Staten Avenue for a report of a shooting at a church. At the time of the shooting, Brown and a group of young men were congregating outside of the church in anticipation of a Wednesday night Bible study group. Brown testified on Thursday that she was told to bring a firearm with her to a Bible study group the night of the shooting. In a telephone interview Friday, defense attorney Andre Walker said that he expects Brown to be a key witness

Brushes Brushes are the most popular brushes, and generally speaking they are the most powerful, as well. They can be used to create various artistic effects. For example, a soft-edged brush can be used to draw smooth curves. A hard-edged brush can be used to draw subtle wrinkles in cloth. A feathered brush can be used to paint a smooth blend between two colors. Brushes can be used on any open image or on a document. Brush size and feathering can be changed by clicking on the brush icon on the toolbox or selecting the brush from the toolbox and then pressing the up or down key. You can also select a brush from the Brush or Pen tool options from the Preferences dialog box (or press CTRL+K) to pick up an existing brush or pen tool. You can also change the size and opacity of a brush or pen tool with the Size and Opacity options in the Tool Options dialog box (or press U in the toolbox). Foreground and Background The Brush tool works on any open image, but sometimes it is helpful to select a non-painting area of the image to use as a "foreground" (the area that will appear through the effect) or background (the area behind the foreground). You can do this with the Brush or Pen tool's Select tool. In either case, you can then paint on the selected image area with the Brush or Pen tool. Type of Brush The Type of brush determines the characteristics of the brush. For example, a Size brush is the most basic brush. It has no feathering or other effects, but it has a continuous, finite width. A Smooth brush has the same width as the pen. It has no "snow" or "hair" edge, but allows you to paint smooth curves and is useful for painting in fine detail. Basic Brushes Most Photoshop brushes are created with a brush size of 8 px and a normal size of 25 px. In addition, there are also Hard, Soft and Flat brushes. The most commonly used brushes are shown in the image below. Normal Brush You can create your own brushes by using the Brush tool, the New Brush tool or by using the Clone Stamp tool. The Brush tool allows you to draw a stroke that you use to paint an image, or it can be used to paint directly over an existing image. You can change the size of the brush with the brush
