Windows Movie Maker is a free program that is part of Windows Vista, Microsoft®®®®®®. EDIT: I don't even know what Movie Maker in Windows 8 is like. Labiatae, sometimes called the “butter and egg” family, is a large order of flowering plants with almost 11,000 described species, second to the Compositae, and growing in temperate regions worldwide. According to Kew’s “Animals of the World,” about 8,000 species are “native.” The name is from the Latin labium meaning “lip”; in this case referring to the expanded lip below the leaf's lower pair of flowers. Many have yellow, white, pink or red flowers, and some species have a milky latex. All members of the Labiatae are herbaceous and all have the unique feature of sepals that are rolled back to expose the pollen-bearing parts of the petals. Labiatae plants are mostly shrubs or trees, and are found in a wide variety of
