Upcoming Map/Vehicle Additions Rocket League's genre-defining arcade-style action sports game is back, bigger and better than ever with the addition of a brand-new map, premium vehicle, and game mode for PlayStation 4 and Xbox One. 2.1. The Glory Road Map Not to be confused with THE ROAD, a new map is on the way! The Glory Road is a brand new track that was inspired by the Orange Box content from Petroglyph Games. Featuring a mix of straight-forward racing, awesome elevation changes, and some very tricky corners, you'll have to use all of your strength to master The Glory Road and place in the top five. Inspiration behind the track: "Having not been involved with Rocket League for a while, I was moved to get back into it by the work I was doing with Petroglyph Games and was asked to follow up the Orange Box. It was great working with so many of the original guys from that time and so much of the track has remained the same. The heavy use of the analogue stick in most of the track is pretty standard as is the sequence of events of the tracks which started with the cargo and moving out. There is a bit of progression in the layout of The Glory Road, however, as it started as a set of straight-forward corners and then the area around the lift hill started to resemble a full on power slide before we realised the dimensions were a bit too big and a few corners were needed. We basically took four
